

THE CLUB

INDUS | Mumbai

Members-only business clubs are all the rage around the world – from Manhattan’s sanctuaries for Wall Street high-flyers to London’s institutes where the moneyed and lineaged shake hands. While some host some of the most successful multi-million-dollar business agreements, others cater to the young and disruptive. But they all share one characteristic: absolute, utter exclusivity. BKC’s Indus Club is 20,000sqft of just that. Membership is open only to promoters and CEOs of well-known companies, creative leaders in advertising, TV, film and other eminent professionals. Rumour has it the bosses of Disney, Standard Chartered Bank, Sony, All Cargo, Avendus and CMS are already in. Besides the usual meeting rooms and eateries, the club offers a spacious auditorium, cigar lounge, gym, spa and indoor golf. Each member also gets a relationship manager, who’ll organise a business party or a private jet booking. The icing on top: VIP access to many of the world’s sporting events, exclusive film festivals and premieres, music performances and culinary experiences. Signing a contract with this club is quite possibly one of your best decisions. theindusclub.com
