THE INDUS CLUB : EXTRAVAGANCE FOR THE ELITE

Tech and taste are of titanic importance in this luxurious space where work meets play

One BKC, Mumbai houses one of the country's most luxurious private members' business clubs. Christened The Indus Club, it is founded by Mr. Harish Thawani whose prior creations include Nimbus Communications and NEO Sports. Spanning 20,000 square feet in the bustling business district of the city, The Indus Club is an 'Invitation Only' club for ultra-high net worth individuals.

Owing to Mr. Thawani's affinity for all things tech and hi-fi, the club is infused with equal amounts of both. More importantly, all the tech generously spread across the club works discreetly in the background, like an incredibly proficient butler: out of sight but always on standby. In order to ensure all facilities are world-class and surpass expectations of its discerning clientele, systems in place are of the highest calibre. For instance, Lutron's one-touch automation systems have been employed and integrated at various key points throughout.

Russounding success

Iconic British brand Russound has been called upon for its highly regarded multi-room custom setups. The system offers 24bit/192kHz resolution audio with complete control given to users through 8 different channels in 8 different zones of the Club. The experience is made seamless by in-house teams perfectly integrating Lutron automation with Russound audio.

Atmos importance

The 32-seater theatre is an equally admirable showcase of the club's adoption of advanced audio tech. In this case, a Dolby Atmos system for a befitting private cinematic experience. Channeling all that audio to your ears are high-end speakers from Danish brand Dali. EQ presets are also at your disposal for quickly tuning audio to suit the occasion.
